VANMAHOTSAV WEEK 1ST-7TH JULY
ORGANISED BY NSS WING
Sarbati Devi Women's College, Rajgangpur

The NSS Wing of Sarbati Devi Women's College celebrated Vanmahotsav on 4th July 2025 with great enthusiasm on the college campus to spread awareness about the importance of trees and environmental conservation. The event focused on nurturing the bond between humans and nature while encouraging students to take up the responsibility of safeguarding the environment.

As part of the programme, a plantation drive was conducted in which 50 saplings were planted at different corners of the campus. These included shade-giving, fruit-bearing, and ornamental plants that will help beautify the environment, reduce pollution, and provide future ecological benefits.

The event was inaugurated by the Principal of the college, who planted the first sapling and, in her address, spoke about the ecological significance of trees in combating pollution and global warming. She inspired the students to preserve nature by adopting sustainable practices and nurturing the saplings regularly.

NSS volunteers played a commendable role in arranging the programme and actively participated in the plantation. They also pledged to take care of the saplings and monitor their growth.

The celebration concluded with a vote of thanks, appreciating the collective efforts of students, faculty, and volunteers. The event truly reflected the NSS spirit of service and responsibility towards society and the environment.
